

Modern Slavery Policy

Our Business

USB2U are a promotional products company based in Northampton, UK.

We are one of the leading suppliers of technology based promotional items in the UK with a range that encompasses USBs, PowerBanks, Cables, Cables, in tach all things tech.

Policy on Modern Slavery

In the interests of ensuring our clients receive a first-class service from the business, it is our company policy only to engage with, and employ specialists in a respective field – whether this be marketing, or data protection. We are fully supportive of the principles of the Modern Slavery Act (MSA) and have a zero-tolerance approach to trafficking and slavery and the Directors are personally involved with recruitment at all levels.

Intercompany & Supply Chain Risk Assessment

We have risk assessed our business and supply line and we consider it to be low risk in terms of modern slavery and human trafficking in all respects. This is due to our business only engaging with reputable professionals based on specific client needs. Most professional engagements are made following recommendations from our existing Team.

We expect all outsourced contractors to share the same values and – if they prove otherwise, their engagement will be immediately reviewed and may be terminated.

Measuring Effectiveness

The Directors of USB2U have the ultimate responsibility for the implementation of this and other Policies - including those that relate to ethical trading and employee welfare.

Approval

USB2U makes this statement pursuant to Section 54 (1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015. This MSA Statement has been considered and approved by the Directors of USB2U.
